All aboard!

Fatme and Titch take the subway

Every spread in this exceptional book shows a subway car and allows us to look directly into the dynamic of city life. It is as if you are looking at a stage, where each stop shows a new scene of a turbulent drama. It's endless fun for both children and adults to discover all the things that are happening on the journey. A wonderful underground theater!

Fatme shows Titch how she gets to school by subway. All the things that they experience in the metro are so exciting that they completely forget to get off again. They see the craziest people in the most unusual clothes who speak all kinds of languages, arguing, flirting, reading, selling stuff, making music or taking a dog home from the vet. Titch is very excited, especially when for a short while all the lights goes out ...
